

Parade at 3:30 to Bring Santa to Town

News and Views . . .

and what have you

by BOB CRAIG

By the time you read this all the local merchants will probably have their stores decked out for Christmas, which with Thanksgiving behind us is only a short time away. If you are like I am and wait until the last minute to think about your gift buying it will seem only a few days away.

In making the rounds over town it looks like the Hamlin merchants have gone all-out in stocking their stores for the holiday season.

Why not do yourself and your friends and neighbors a favor and do as much of your Christmas shopping here as you possibly can.

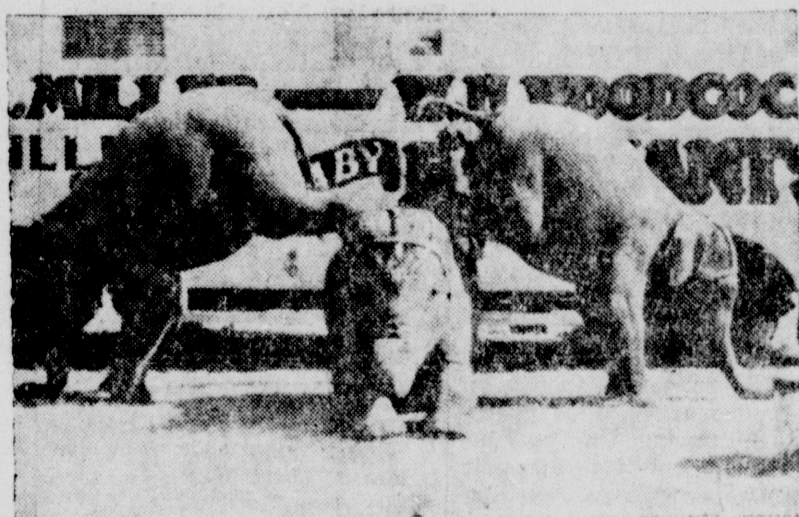

Along this line of thinking, it has been one of my pet peeves when someone buys most of their needs out of town but are so demanding of the local merchant when they don't have time to go out of town for something or need service for an item that they have bought somewhere else.

At a recent state Jaycee Board meeting held in Lubbock, attended by Jerry Howard, local Jaycee president, Max Murrell and myself a resolution was passed by the group to recommend changing the National Election laws so that the candidates would be elected by popular vote.

The group did not spell out what method should be used to accomplish this end, but if anything is done to change the method of selecting the nation's president I would hope that it would include some way to speedup the counting of votes. If this isn't done and we have another election as close as this past one and have to wait for the vote count both candidates would probably die of heart failure before the decision was ever made as to who won.

The principle argument for the change is that one vote in New York is worth so much more than one vote in a sparsely populated state that the vote should swing the state's electoral vote to one candidate. For example, one vote in New York would give the candidate 45 electoral votes and an Arizona vote would swing only four.

The system needs changing, but how is the big problem and those with the power are not likely to give it up without a big fight.

FAMOUS SHRINE ELEPHANTS—Part of the big free Merchants Christmas Circus to be held here today, will be the famous Woodcock Shrine Elephants. A different Circus Act will be presented every 45 minutes and there will be free pony rides for the children on the vacant lot north of the Postoffice.

Free Pony Rides, Circus, Candy

Hamlin merchants will open the Christmas season today with a big street parade and free circus. The parade will start at 3:30 on North Central Ave. at 4th Street and will terminate at South Central Ave. and 5th Street.

Due to a mix-up, the handbills distributed by the Trade Development Committee of the Board of Community Development listed the parade starting time at 4 o'clock instead of the correct time of 3:30 p.m.

The big 17 unit parade will be led by the Jr. High School band and will climax with Santa Claus on Jumbo the Elephant. The High School 54-piece marching band will precede Santa Claus.

Before and after the parade there will be a big free circus with pony rides for the youngsters on the vacant lot north of the Postoffice. C. L. Toward, chairman of the Trade committee, urged that all pre-school children attend the circus and ride the ponies before the parade so that the primary children can attend after school.

The circus and pony rides will be in operation from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m.

The High School majorettes will distribute 2,000 pieces of wrapped candy to the crowds along the parade route.

The big feature of the circus will be the Woodcock Shrine Elephants. Other features of the circus are Cookie, the Hollywood trained chimpanzee; Starlight, the educated pony and Santa in his heated traveling work shop.

Santa will make his entry into town atop of Jumbo who will be dressed up in his jumbo-size santa suit.

District Band Conference To Be Held Here Saturday

The Northwest District Bands of Region II have been invited to attend a meeting here at Hamlin High School Saturday when representatives of the area bands will be chosen for the all-district band.

A concert will be presented by the 90 member all district band in the Hamlin High School Auditorium Saturday evening at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

Band members chosen for the all-district band will be in uniform for the concert and will be directed by Mr. Griep. Tim Jones, local band director and chairman, District Band Chairman, stated this week that the 90 member band will be chosen from the 150 to ## 200 students expected to attend.

Invitations were sent to 18 schools in the area and early his week replies had been received from Roby, Sweetwater, Rochester, Trent, Lorraine and Roscoe.

Funeral services were held Monday at the First Methodist Church with the Rev. Edmund Robb, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Elmwood Memorial Park Cemetery in Abilene under the direction of Hamlin Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Willard Maberry, W. J. Kemp, Cloyce Jones, Weldon Carlton, Leonard Johnson and Red Wallace.

Born June 29, 1889 in Clarksville, Texas, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Parker.

He came to Hamlin in 1905. He was a member of First Methodist Church.

On June 22, 1958, he was married to Ruth Johnston.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Kenneth and Leo of Hamlin; one brother, Roy, of Kerville and 3 grandchildren.

Rites Held Monday For J. I. PARKER

J. I. Parker, 71, retired farmer died Sunday at 10:15 a. m. in Hamlin Memorial Hospital following a heart attack. He had been a patient for the past three weeks.

This is the third general refund the Roby Co-op has made under the capital credits system that it adopted in 1951. Under this system the Cooperative returns to its members, all the money it takes in above the actual cost of operation. The amount of the refund each member receives is proportional to the amount of electricity he purchased during the year for which the margins are being returned.

The $58,852 that is to be returned the second week of December is the largest refund yet to be made by Midwest Electric Cooperative. It represents the margins acquired during 1953 and 1954.

Midwest Electric made its first refund in December of 1958 when one half of the 1951 margins ($19,435.64) were returned. In December of 1959 the remainder of the 1951 margins and all of the 1952 margins (totaling $42,116.87) were returned.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights
by Vern Sanford

AUSTIN—Added to the list of lively topics for the next Legislature is the carving out of a new Congressional district. Final figures in the national census show Texas entitled to a 23rd congressman. State's population rose 24.2 per cent—to 9,579,677—making it the sixth most populous state in the nation.
Even though population increase accounts for Texas' getting another representative to Congress, population will not be the sole consideration when lawmakers decide where to put the new district.
Population of Texas districts ranges widely, from about 227,000 to 614,000. It is highly unlikely that the legislature will undertake to rearrange the districts statewide so as to even out the differences. This would inconvenience too many incumbent congressmen, taking from their districts counties where they are popular and adding counties where they are unknown.
Nor is it expected that Dallas County, the state's most populous district with 614,000, will get the extra congressman. Dallas now sends Texas' only Republican to Washington and a Democratic legislature likely will not want to create an opportunity for another GOP'er to be elected.
Texas' biggest congressional district—and the nation's biggest—area-wise, is the 16th, stretching all the way from Ozone to El Paso. But if El Paso the only metropolitan area, were taken out, what was left would be short on population for a district.
After the 1950 census, the Legislature ducked for awhile the question of what to do with the extra congressman by having him serve "at large" (the whole state). Later Harris County (Houston) was given the extra congressman.
KEYED AMENDMENTS POSE PROBLEM—On the purely state level, voters' approval of the four constitutional amendments during the general election pose some new decisions and issues for the state legislators next January. Among them:
1. MORE PAY — FROM WHERE?—By constitutional amendment, voters have, for the first time in history, put members of the Texas Legislature on an annual salary. They will be entitled to $4,800 a year, whether in session or not. They also are to get $12 a day expenses for 120 days of regular session and for each day of any special sessions called thereafter. This replaces the old $25-a-day pay plan. Question is where to get the money. State's general revenue fund is, according to State Treasurer Jesse James' latest report, $60,535.63 in the red. By the time the next session starts, this figure is expected to be higher.

So, legislators will have to turn their attention quickly to a means of finding money somewhere if they're going to meet their own grocery bills.
2. LOAN COMPANY REGULATION—Passage of Amendment Four dumps in the legislator's lap the tremendous job of passing laws to regulate lending practices in Texas.
Some lawmakers gloomily and privately predict that it will result in a worse fight than trying to pass a new tax bill.
Previously, the Constitution limited legal interest rates to 10 percent. This provision was repealed.
Under the new provision the Legislature has the responsibility to (1) license and regulate lenders, (2) prevent misleading advertising, (3) fix and limit maximum charges and (4) impose effective penalties for violations.
Attorney General Will Wilson, elated over the passage of the amendment, warned that "the loan sharks will pitch their final battle in the Legislature to try to eliminate the penalties and to develop loopholes."
Abner V. McCall, executive vice president of Baylor University and head of a citizens committee that worked for passage of the amendment, predicted "a real do fight" in the Legislature over control legislation.

3. LAND PROGRAM PICKS UP—Since the voters gave it permission Nov. 8 to pay higher interest on its bonds, the Veterans Land Board is getting ready to do a bigger business.
Maximum interest the board can pay on the bonds it sells was raised from 3 to 3.5 percent. With this easing of restrictions, the board expects to be able to sell more bonds and have more money available to loan veterans for land purchases.
A new bond sale is planned tentatively for December. Meanwhile, the board secretary said mailing of applications to veterans has been stepped up from 100 a week to 225 a week.
Some 40,000 veterans are now waiting for loans, but in actual practice, only about one in five finally finds land and qualifies for a loan.
Board has authority to issue $62,500,000 more in bonds. This amount of money is expected to take care of those waiting to buy who will qualify.
According to the constitutional amendment setting up the program, no new loans are supposed to be made after Dec. 1, 1935.
SCHOOL GOALS SET—Knowing it will be a tough job in this debt-ridden era, Texas school people are, nevertheless, setting their sights on a $100,000,000 improvement program.
At an Austin meeting of educators, legislators and interested citizens, Governor Daniel promised his support to the effort to pass a bill to raise teachers salaries.
This is one of the main items of the $100,000,000 Hale-Aikin recommendations. This program resulted from a study begun in 1957. It sat on the shelf during the last legislature because of the acute money shortage.

Lone Star Gas Company Personnel Receive Pay Hike
Dallas—Employees of Lone Star Gas Company and Lone Star Producing Company will receive a 5 per cent pay increase effective December 1.
In making the announcement Lone Star President L. T. Potter said the increase represents a direct additional payroll cost of $1,200,000 annually.
He noted that the pay hike applies to almost all regular and full-time employees. The two companies employ about 6,000 people in Texas, Oklahoma and other neighboring states.
Mr. Potter pointed out a portion of the employees are represented by a union and the increase in such cases cannot become effective until accepted by the union.

DIFFERENCES OF '61 COTTON PROGRAM AND '60 EXPLAINED
College Station. In response to questions raised by some growers about 1961 upland cotton allotments, B. P. Davenport, Jr., Chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, today explained the difference between the 1961 program and the one in effect for the past two cotton crops.
He pointed out that the 1961 national allotment of 18.5 million acres compares with the "regular" 1960 allotment of 16.3 million acres. This 1960 figure was increased to 17.5 million acres under Choice (B) elections. In 1961, there will be only one upland cotton allotment, whereas for the past two crops growers had a choice between the "regular" farm allotment and the 40-percent-larger (B) allotment. All eligible growers in 1961 may receive the full available price support on their cotton, whereas in 1960 the eligible (B) growers received lower support but a larger acreage allotment.
Because of the provisions of the law, the effect of the increased national allotment on the size of the State, county, and farm allotments will vary widely. Some farms may receive no increase or possibly a reduction from the available allotment acreage for 1960 primarily because of the operation of the minimum allotment provisions or participation in Choice (B) program in 1960.
Growers on 1960 Choice (B) farms and on farms with allotments of 10 acres or less should keep these facts in mind when they receive their notices of 1961 upland allotments.
Davenport reminded farmers that the allotments will remain in effect for 1961-crop cotton whether or not growers approve 1961 marketing quotas in the national referendum to be held December 13. Allotments are used as a means of determining eligibility for the available price support.
A two-thirds favorable vote in the referendum would mean quotas for the 1961 cotton crop, marketing quota penalties on any "excess" cotton, and price support at not less than 70 per cent of parity. Opposition to the quotas by more than a third of the voters would mean no quotas or penalties for 1961 and support at 50 percent of parity to growers who complied with their acreage allotments.

Meeting in Anson Planned on Taxes For Area Farmers
Do you sometimes feel that you are paying more income tax than you can afford? If you do, there is no reason to become alarmed. You are just one among millions. What can you do to save tax dollars? Thousands of farm and ranch operators as well as homemakers are learning the answers. Provisions for reporting farm and ranch income are spelled out in laws. Do you understand all of these laws? Chances are you do not. If you do not, there is an equal chance that you are paying more income tax than the law requires.
The amount of money you will be able to save depends on how you manage your operations throughout the year as well as how you list the income on the return forms. Whether you fill out your own tax forms or employ the services of someone else, it is just as important from a money saving standpoint, that you understand the interpretation of the tax laws.
Your County Extension Service Agents, Mary Y. Newberry and Kirby Clayton have arranged an informative meeting for your benefit. Thomas K. Hunter and Mrs. Tom Joyce Cunningham, District Extension Management Specialists from Vernon will be in Anson court-house, 1:30 p.m., December 15 to assist with the meeting. The agents have been trained by members of the Internal Revenue Service from the Dallas District Office. The meeting will be informal thus offering you the opportunity to ask any questions you have on farm income tax or social security benefits.
The time that you spend at this meeting will, in all likelihood, make you more money than anything that you have done during the year in the same amount of time.

HUNTERS ASKED TO SEND DEER HIDES TO STATE HOSPITALS

DALLAS — Publeeze, Mr. Hunter, don't throw away that deer hide!

That's the plea of volunteers in state-operated hospitals who annually sponsor the collection of these skins and have them tanned into leather for use by patients in occupational therapy.

Mrs. Frank O. Hamilton of Dallas, chairman of the Volunteer Services Council for all the state hospitals and special schools, said the patients fashion all types of small articles from the leather which provide gifts for their families, or if salable, "coke and cigarette" funds for themselves.

"The real value though," she pointed out, "is in giving the patient something to occupy his thoughts and his hands. Working with leather especially appeals to many men in our hospitals."

The hides should be lightly salted, drained and sent to the Austin Taxidermist Studio, 2708 Fredericksburg Road, Austin, where the owner L. M. Rathbone donates storage, curing and preparation of the hides for the tannery.

Most motor freight lines in Texas haul the hides without charge if the shipping tag is marked "charity." Many locker plant operators also will assist in adding the hides to the collection when the deer are skinned if instructed to do so by the hunter, Mrs. Hamilton said.

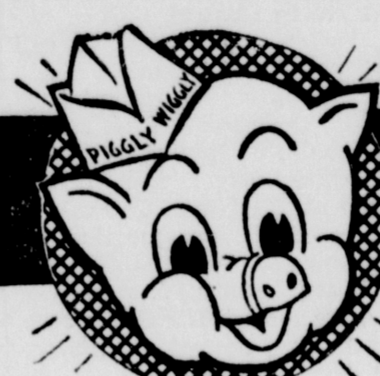

In addition to the Texas Motor Transportation Association, the buckskin collection has the endorsement and active co-operation of Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas, Texas Independent Meat Packers Association, State Game and Fish Commission, sports writers and radio editors throughout Texas, the Volunteer chairman said.

So... publeeze, Mr. Hunter, don't throw away that deer hide!

C. P. YATES CELEBRATES 50TH ANNIVERSARY AND BIRTHDAY

Marj Baucum of the Marj Baucum Studio of Dance, Abilene, will be the guest speaker for the 9:45 a.m. meeting Friday of the Fifty-two Study Club in the home of Mrs. F. E. Baucum.

The program, "Knowledge of the Ballet," will be directed by Mrs. E. J. Croan.

A Christmas Cheer box for a mental hospital in Wichita Falls will be the project.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Yates celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Thursday with a Thanksgiving dinner in their home at 236 Northwest Avenue B.

The occasion also marked the 79th birthday for Mr. Yates.

The table was covered with a white linen cloth edged in pink. Crystal and china edged in gold which the couple received on their Golden Wedding Anniversary completed the setting. The flat white cake was decorated with white rosettes with silver accents. Happy Anniversary was inscribed in pink letters and 59 noted the anniversary and 79 was symbolic of the November 23 birthday of Mr. Yates.

Present for the event were a daughter, Mrs. N. D. Miers of Rotan; a son, Lewis Yates, Mrs. Yates of Hamlin; a grandson, Walter Nash Miers, and Mrs. Miers of Rotan.

Mrs. Glenn Cox, granddaughter, and her two children of Pampa were unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Yates were married in Old Payer, November 24, 1901. Their marriage is the first one for Rev. Skelton of the Methodist Church Aspermont, to perform.

They lived on the Rayner farm for about two years before moving to Stamford. They lived there for about a year and then moved to Anson after Mr. Yates became ill with typhoid fever. They resided with his folks in Anson for a month when he returned to the ranch and remained of his convalescence.

In 1903 the couple moved to McCaulley where he was engaged in a general mercantile store, then a grocery store and later as a cotton buyer. In 1942 they moved to Hamlin and he was associated with Chuck McCaulley in cotton buying. He retired several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Yates have been members of the Methodist Church for 50 years. Both were quite active in the McCaulley Methodist Church.

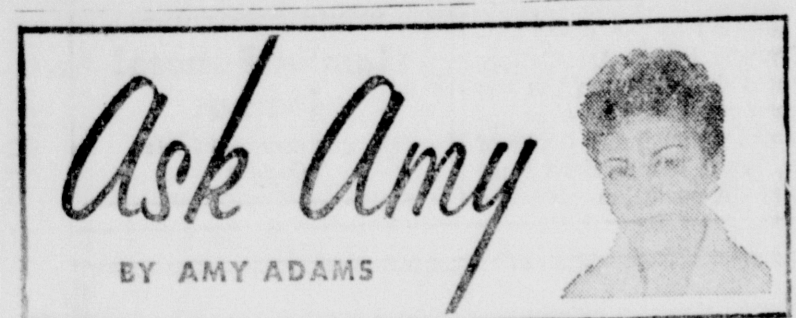

Mrs. Yates, a member of the Faith Methodist Church, has taught Women's Sunday School classes and until recently she taught Bible lessons in her home for junior and intermediate age groups. She is also active in the W. S. C. S.

Mrs. Yates taught school in McCaulley for five years and has an expression teacher for about 20 years. During World War I she had classes in English at McCaulley.

Her hobbies are crocheting and hemstitching.

He spends a great deal of time in his woodworking shop where he enjoys repairing tables and chairs and working on other furniture.

PREACHER'S SON DOESN'T PLEASE HER

DEAR AMY: I am 15 and I always go out with the preacher's son, and, believe me, there isn't any difference between him and the other boys.

Recently I met a nice fellow and I like him a lot but because he smokes, his parents object. Sure, he can call and they let me talk to him, but they refuse to let me see him. What should I do? I'm tired of the preacher's son. Should I stay at home or what?

Dear Amy: Since neither objects to boys who smoke, find one who doesn't. And if the preacher's son isn't your idea of a perfect date, give Mom the real low-down and could be she'll see the "light!"

Dear Amy: Is it necessary when filling out an application for a job to state if one is a divorcee. I was once married and now divorced with all contact cut off. There is no support or anything involved in regards to what has happened. I would like to know if I can consider myself single?

Dear Amy: When filling out an application for a job, you should answer all questions truthfully. If there is a question about your marital status, you should state that you are divorced, even though you don't support your former wife.

Dear Amy: I'm married and have two children. However, I'm not happily married. Lately I've been having a love affair with our next-door neighbor's son. My husband, who works nights, knows nothing of this. I've discovered now that the next-door neighbor knows of what's been happening. I still love my husband but I feel so cheap. How will I tell him of what I've done? He's going to find out sooner or later.

Dear Cheap: There is no decent way of telling a husband of an indecent affair. Be prepared to face the consequences.

sequences and pray for his forgiveness.

Dear Amy: I would like to ask your opinion on the following questions. Is it proper for a girl to invite a boy to a prom or is it up to the boy to ask the girl? If he doesn't go to her school, is it all right for her to invite him? If the girl can't invite the boy, does she pay his way all evening?

Dear Miss N. W.: If it's the girl's prom, it's proper for her to ask a boy and he need not attend her school. A girl pays for the tickets only. The escort takes care of flowers, transportation and refreshments, etc.

Dear Amy: I have a friend who would like some advice. This friend was ill this fall and her illness was quite serious. However, her doctor pulled her through. He was so kind and thoughtful to her and she's so grateful to him that she would like nothing better than to do or give a little token of appreciation to the doctor or his family. His wife is about to have another child and my friend thought maybe a small gift for the new baby. Would this be appropriate? Since my friend is by nature kind and understanding and very sensitive, I don't know what she should do about it. The gift should be appreciated in the spirit in which it is given. I wonder, sometimes, if doctors are human and real people and have real feelings. I wouldn't want to see my friend hurt so please advise me what to tell her.

Dear Miss R. C.: Doctors, like you and I, most certainly have feelings. While a doctor does not expect gifts for services rendered, if it will make your friend happy to extend a small gift—with a note of thanks—it will be warmly accepted!

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

GRANDFATHER IS A RARE COMBINATION

DEAR AMY: My wife's grandfather is constantly on my nerves. He was 82 in September and he thinks he knows everything. He lives within walking distance so he's over here practically every day.

He thinks he's a combination of Emily Post, Amy Adams and Dr. Spock. He never gets tired of telling us what to do, including the fact that we don't live right. I don't have the heart to throw the old guy out, but what can I do with him?

Bill

Dear Bill: Listen attentively, agree with him wholeheartedly and do as you please! . . .

Dear Amy: My daughter is my problem. She will soon be 17 and every time I try to talk to her, she gets mad. When she talks, she yells and of course that doesn't help matters either. She is not married but runs around with married men (a few single ones, too). She tells me she doesn't have to work and now wants to quit school. I don't mind her going out with single men. She said it was her life and not mine.

We have gone to the Pastor and her Sunday School teacher but she told them the same thing. The boy I like, she doesn't. And he is of the same religion as we are.

She told her father I was a trouble maker. Am I, Amy. The girls she runs around with don't want to have anything to do with her. She can't make friends or keep them. What can a mother do?

A Mixed-up Mother

Dear Mixed-up: The reins that control your daughter are in your hands. Tighten up, Mother! You are doing her serious harm by allowing her to go astray. Get in the driver's seat before there are regrets.

Send me a large self-addressed, stamped envelope and I'll send you a booklet on how to handle your teen-ager. . . .

Dear Amy: I am an 18 year old girl with dark hair, blue eyes, fairly intelligent and dress attractively. My measurements are 36-25-36. I'm 5'6" and weigh 125 pounds. I keep up with current events, read the latest books and can hold my own in a conversation.

The problem is: I haven't had a date for the last 6 months. What's wrong with me?

Tracy

Dear Tracy: There's nothing wrong with you. There's something wrong with your boy-friends! . . .

Dear Amy: My problem is my 15 year old sister-in-law. She's always holding one of my three small children—the youngest is 2 months old. She doesn't seem to realize or care that she's spoiling them.

I like all my in-laws except her, but I'm beginning to dread visiting them. I don't want to say anything to Mom because I don't want her angry at me. Amy, please tell me how to handle this situation in a tactful way.

Mrs. L. B.

Dear Mrs. L. B.: Next time she picks up one of the children (and all girls her age love to hold babies) tell her firmly—but politely—that you would appreciate it if she wouldn't. Explain that you do not approve of it because she is spoiling them.

If she repeats it, you repeat it! . . .

Dear Amy: I was going to get married in April but my sweetheart and I had a big fight. Finally we didn't get married.

In January, I'm going to be married to another boy. Do you think it's too soon to get married after losing the first boy? I love the second boy very much and have been going steady with him six months.

Miss E. A.

Dear Miss E. A.: If you are sure there couldn't be a "number three" boy, you have my blessings! . . .

PERSONAL to Rita: If you want a woman to read your letter, send it to her husband and write PERSONAL on the envelope!

Please address all letters to: Amy Adams c/o This Newspaper For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Simple Precautions Can Help Eliminate Home Accidents

Home accidents cost millions of dollars each year. Good housekeeping and safety practices could cut out many costly, avoidable accidents. For fall prevention in your home, Mary Y. Newberry, Jones County Home Demonstration Agent, suggests these simple precautions:

1. Anchor small rugs.
2. Wipe up spills immediately.
3. Use thin coats of wax on floors and polish thoroughly after each addition of each coat.
4. Use a sturdy step ladder instead of chairs to reach high things.
5. Keep steps well lighted and in good repair.
6. Keep soap out of bath tub and off the floor.

7. Keep toys and other articles out of traffic lanes. Kitchens, bathrooms and utility areas harbor some of the most dangerous hazards, but other parts of the house need checking too.

Why not let children and other members join in a hunt for "hidden" hazards? For an easy check list, ask your home demonstration agent for leaflet 321 "Is Your Home Safe?"

"How could a date have seemed so important?"

When your mind's not on your driving, you're dangerous! Your car can't think. That's your department—the driver's. So think about this. When your mind is on anything else but your driving, anything can happen—including an accident! Last year, nearly 37,000 Americans died on our highways. Many might still be alive if they or others had kept their minds on the road. Driving demands your full attention, so stay alert—and stay alive!

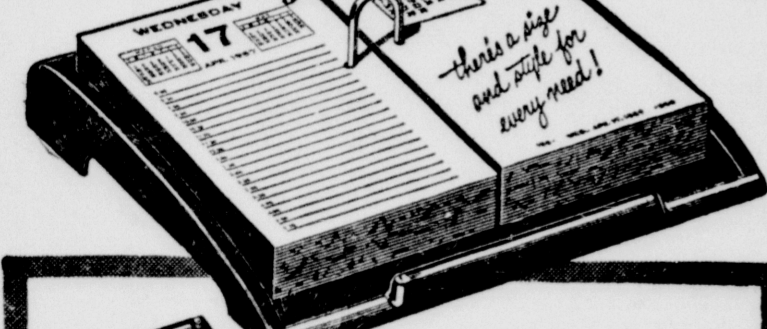

Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

Ryan Young Farms 'Mystery Farm' Owned by R. I. Milstead Since 1937

The "mystery farm" picture which was published in the November 24 issue of the Herald was identified as the R. I. (Bob) Milstead farm located about 3 miles southwest of Hamlin on the Roby highway. Owned by Milstead for over 20 years the farm was previously known as the Ryan Young place. He bought the land on the east side of the highway in 1908 and then in 1937 he added land across the highway. After retiring in 1947, Mr. and Mrs. Milstead have lived in Hamlin. Ryan Young has rented and operated the 320 acre farm for the past three years. In 1952, the terraces were rebuilt and new other improvements have been made during the time they have lived there. There is 130 acres of cotton, 100 acres of sorghum and in the soil bank and the rest of the acreage is in maize and hygear. Plans are underway to clear and cultivate more of the land north of the house. Mr. and Mrs. Young are members of the First Methodist Church at Neinda. They have seven children: Glenda, 13, J. D., 17, George, 19, and Johnnie, 21, of the home; Mrs. Ray (DeLores) Mashburn of Wichita Falls; Mrs. Joan Mashburn of Abilene and Deryl who has been in the Navy for almost eight years and is now at Pearl Harbor. ## FAIRVIEW NEWS--

The past week being Thanksgiving most of the news out our way centers around what each family did for Thanksgiving. Despite the disastrous hail and wind storm which swept through the heart of our community in October, the folks have rallied from it and at this Thanksgiving season realize they still have many things to be thankful for.

Last Wednesday night being the regular time for family night at the church, a Thanksgiving service was held at the church. But owing to a mixup some way in plans, only 14 people attended. The deacons brought a talk on "What Thanksgiving means to me." Despite the small crowd, a good service was enjoyed by those attending.

Those eating Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Jenkins were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kiser, Stamford; Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Bond, Mike, Diane and Marshall, Stanley Austin and Cecil Robinson, all from Hamlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ford had their children, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ford, Jodie, Nancy, Penny, Spencer, and Diane; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ford and girls, Athlene and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Edwin Ford and children of Hamlin.

Over the Ralph Riddle way they had their dinner at Hamlin in the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fowler with 24 people attending. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Fowler and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Riddle were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Riddle, Mrs. Shariot Gabriel, Teresa, Tommy and Lynn, all of Hamlin; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Glen and children, Odessa and J. C. Riddle and Johnny from Stamford and Mrs. Fowler of Hamlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rosenbaum had their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Rosenbaum of Pampa, and Mrs. Joe Ray Rosenbaum's father, O. D. Roland of Hamlin.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Jones went to Abilene and ate dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Rex Jones. Spending the day with Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Greenway were her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Whitaker and Joe, Plains, Wayne Whitaker, Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Joiner ate dinner with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCoy.

Rev. and Mrs. Doyle Combs spent the day with their parents at Loraine and Sweetwater. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Riddle

By MRS. ELMER JOINER went to Fort Worth over the week end to visit her mother Mrs. Jim Sockwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Johnson and sons, Amarillo, spent the holidays with her parents, the W. O. Grays, and his parent the Mannie Johnsons of Hamlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vaughan Jimmy and Diane, ate supper with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Vaughan last Sunday night.

Mrs. Greenway spent last Friday afternoon with Mr. Vaughan.

Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Greenway had his sister Mrs. R. E. Walker, Plainville and his niece, Helen Walker of Lubbock as visitors.

In the Thanksgiving new Mr. and Mrs. Flavel Holmes had their children, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Holmes and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wright and Melinda Hamlin, and Mrs. Earl Herbs also of Hamlin, for dinner.

Mrs. A. F. Dixon and Mrs. Bud Ferguson, Hamlin, visited their cousin, Mrs. Roscoe Greenway, Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. W. S. Newland was absent Sunday morning and it was learned that she was helping welcome a new granddaughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Tucker Newland, Hamlin, the last of the week.

Winifred Joiner, San Antonio spent Thursday night with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Joiner, then Friday morning they all went to Lubbock to have another Thanksgiving dinner with their sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kee. They returned Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Goodwin and Linda spent the day Saturday in Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilmer Carter, Hanna community, visited the W. O. Grays Saturday.

Jeanie Joiner, Hamlin, spent some of the holidays with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Joiner. Sunday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Joiner and children; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCoy and children.

There was quite a bit of excitement after church Sunday night when the "church cat" bit little Brenda Combs. Although the blood flowed freely it was not serious. The cat will be kept under observation.

Next Sunday contributions will be made to the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering and the W. M. U. will bring a mission program.

HD Agent Urges Fall Closet Cleaning Session

Do you have enough closet space to keep garments from looking "mussy" and limp. If not, perhaps a fall closet cleaning session with an eye toward a different arrangement will solve your problem.

Why not start at the top of the closet with the hat section. Mary V. Newberry, Jones County Home Demonstration Agent, suggests square hat boxes to save space. Find a box as large as the shelf will take so more than one that can be tucked in between several boxes. Liberal use of tissue paper helps to keep hats in good condition. If shelf room is limited, perhaps a second shelf can be added.

Rods for hangers might be changed to give more space. Two shorter rods installed from back to front may be better than a rod that runs full width of the closet. On your rod or rods, hang garments by sections according to length—dresses to the back or end, then suits and skirts, and lastly, blouses. Under the short pieces you will have storage room for boxes of out of season garments.

If your closet is still too stuffed, take a good look at your wardrobe. A garment you have not worn in months probably isn't so valuable to you as the closet space.

Good closet accessories will help keep your wardrobe in good condition. You can make your own shoebags, hat boxes, glove boxes and dress covers. Directions are given in an extension bulletin, "Facts about Clothing Care." Copies are available from the home demonstration agent's office.

County HD Agent Urges That Labels Should Be Read

Labels were meant to insure our safety and to help you get what you want, says Mary Y. Cowberry, Jones County Home Demonstration Agent. Look for labels that give helpful information.

State and city laws apply to food within local jurisdiction. These laws are designed to safeguard you from food which is not fit to eat, from adulteration of food, from misleading information, and to help you know the quality of food.

Labels on foods which leave their home state for sale must give the following information:

1. The name of the product and the variety or style when applicable.
2. The name and address of the manufacturer, packer or shipper.
3. An accurate statement of net quantity.
4. A list of the common or usual name of each ingredient when two or more foods go into an unstandardized product. The order of listing indicates the relative amount of each food. The food present in largest quantity comes first.
5. Enough facts to fully inform purchaser concerning foods for special dietary purposes.
6. A statement of the use of artificial flavoring, artificial coloring, imitations, or chemical preservatives.
7. An indication and explanation of substandard quality or substantial fill of container. Such food must be whole, although it may not measure up to prescribed minimums in stated way.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

Every time we talk to a fisherman we get another good idea. Here are some tips, picked up at random. You may find them interesting and perhaps helpful.

Keep the metallic parts of your lures polished brightly at all times. This applies especially to spoons and spinners. A dab of silver polish on a soft flannel cloth will do wonders to brighten your lures.

Store a few moth balls in your tackle box. This will help keep your lures from rusting.

Use a rod that is dark—either black or dark green. This will help prevent light from reflecting off of the metal parts.

Needless to say, the same principle should be applied to the reel you are using. A brightly polished reel reflects a tremendous amount of light and reveals to the fish where you are.

Some fishermen even recommend that the rod be painted a solid color, including the ferrules and guides.

Don't motor to the exact spot where you want to fish. Let the motor about 20 feet short and paddle toward the spot in question. Or, let the boat drift to the point where you want to fish. A silent approach is your goal.

A fault of some fishermen, says an angling friend, is that he is too impatient to see the fish which has taken his bait. In his anxiety, he lifts the fish up out of the water before he gets it alongside the boat.

Proper procedure is to keep the fish in the water, with the line fairly tight, until you have him within reach. Then lift him firmly but gently over the side and into the bottom of the boat.

Most fishermen let the fish "play" until fully exhausted, then lift him aboard, quickly. Because of the acrobatics which a fish can perform, when lifted free of water, his chance of release is much greater then. If he is kept in the water until the last moment, he has only the resistance which the water provides, unless he can dive among the brush and rocks.

An acrobatic fish can cling a hook easily, while one that is in the water has only the possibility of diving deep and becoming entangled in brush or rocks, and then pulling himself free.

Work an area thoroughly before moving your boat to another location.

Many fishermen recommend that casts be made short at first, then a little longer, then distant. Suggested procedure is to cast along the bank and around the boat from left to right, so that all the area is covered before moving to a new location.

Reason given for making a short cast first is that if you hook a fish, you will not disturb those beyond that catch. Then you have an opportunity to cast farther out and retrieve more fish.

One tip from a top-water angler—when the fish misses your lure (and you, of course, miss your fish) let the lure rest right where it is for a few moments. Then jerk it slightly so as to give it a "live" effect. Try that two or three times, then reel in, light a cigaret and wait for four or five minutes before casting again. Then lay the lure right back in the exact spot where you had it before.

There is a good chance that the bass is, by that time, back in his lair and ready to try again.

Another suggestion: If you land a lunker and seem to get no follow-up strikes, move around to the other side of the spot and try it from there. Very likely you'll find another big one lurking nearby.

Many fishermen feel that a bright, sunny day is the best day to fish.

Not so with one angler. He contends that he had much rather fish when the sky is cloudy, and the sun's rays do not fall directly upon the water. That's when he likes to work around stumps, logs, brush piles, or fallen trees—especially if they are in from two to six feet of water.

Ordinarily, he says, stumps, logs, brush piles, and windfalls will outproduce any other kind of bass cover, five to one.

Another angler says that you should fish on the shady side of any lake or stream—which means working one side in the early morning and the other side in the late evening.

Midday is regarded by many as the poorest time to fish. One angler who heads for the lake at least once a week reports that he never has any success fishing unless there is a ripple on the water.

Also, he has discovered that the clarity of the water must be such that he can see his hand at least eighteen inches under the surface. Otherwise, it is his contention that the bass cannot see his favorite lure—a top-water spinner—even though the popping sound does attract their attention.

We repeat—every fisherman has some good ideas. How about sending us a few of your own—c/o this newspaper.

ALFRED HITCHCOCK'S 'PSYCHO' OPENS FOUR DAY RUN SUNDAY

A new motion picture production from the master of suspense films, Alfred Hitchcock, is always an event of major importance in the world of theatre entertainment, but judging by the talk already generated by his latest Paramount release, "Psycho," Hitchcock has outdone even himself with the newest entry for the "bitter-and-shock" Hall of Fame.

"Psycho," which opens Sunday at the Ferguson Theatre, is based on an Inner Sanctum mystery novel and stars Anthony Perkins, Vera Miles, John Gavin and Janet Leigh as Marion Crane. Co-starred are stage and film star Martin Balsam and John McIntire. An outstanding supporting cast includes Frank Albertson, Patricia Hitchcock (the producer-director's daughter), Vaughn Taylor, Laurence Tuttle, John Anderson and Mort Mills.

To the universal appeal of every Hitchcock film he added another ingredient—an intriguing secrecy which kept even Hollywood agog with interest during production. The original novel by Robert Bloch hit Hitchcock with such impact that he immediately purchased the screen rights, then embarked on a campaign of secrecy and silence surpassing any mystery he has ever put on film.

The barest story outline, supplied by Hitchcock himself, describes "Psycho" as the story of a young woman who steals a fortune and encounters a young man too long under the domination of his mother. The mother, to quote Hitchcock, is a "homicidal maniac." With typical Hitchcock aptness, the electrifying story is laid against the eerie background of an isolated motel and a brooding Victorian mansion. Time: the present.

For months Hitchcock kept even the title secret. If he could have his way he would permit no one to be seated in the theatre during the last thirty minutes of the film in order not to ruin the effect of the sensational climax. For their full enjoyment of the unusual suspense drama, patrons are urged to see it from the beginning. No one will be permitted to leave the Ferguson after the start of each performance.
